Its Name Is "Bond Issue," But It'll Be a 4% Sales Tax Unless You Kill It June 27

Prophecy is not a gift, believe me. All I got out of two state-wide petitions and four years of federal tax litigation was a nod from the highest court in the land as a true prophet — and it cost me $18,000.

Docket No. 686, in the Supreme Court of the United States, October Term, 1960, yours truly vs. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, page 3 of the decision against me:

"The taxpayer felt that, if the exemption of livestock and poultry feeds from the 2% sales tax should continue, an increase in the general sales tax rate would ultimately result in increased." The sales tax rate in Arkansas was later increased."

The year of my warning was 1955. The year the sales tax was increased from 2 to 3 per cent was 1957.

This is 1961. Next Tuesday, June 27, you will go to the polls in a special election to vote for or against a 60-million-dollar bond issue to which is pledged the full faith and credit of the State of Arkansas.

There is nothing to support that bond issue but thin air, as far as present taxes are concerned. My prophecy is this: If you vote for the Bond Issue on June 27 you guarantee yourself a 4% sales tax.

Here are the financial facts:

While the original bond issue would be 60 million there is an estimated 30 million additional for interest and fees — making a total of 90 million to be amortized.

The Arkansas Education Association estimates the annual amortization charge would be 4½ millions. The specific taxes pledged for this are, (1) Excess fees from the extension of Oaklawn Jockey Club's racing season at Hot Springs, and, (2) The use tax as amended by the 1961 legislature. The combined revenue of these two is not more than 1 million. Where will the balance of 3½ million a year come from?

It will come from the State General Revenue Fund, the same fund that supports state aid for the public schools. Either the public school system will be cut back — or you will be confronted by a thundering new tax. I've given you my educated guess as to which will happen — and you ought to be able to figure it out for yourself before voting next Tuesday.

BUT DO VOTE!

Remember, this is a special election, with a potential of perhaps only 100,000 votes, unless the people respond in thousands. Officialdom is against you, and officialdom can control a special election unless there is a great public outcry. Controlling a general election, with upwards of 300,000 votes, is a tougher job — that's why this was called a special election.

Yesterday I telephoned Joshua K. Shepherd, chairman of the Arkansas Committee for the Public Schools, Little Rock, and offered him an idea and a $500 check to back it up. Last night his advertising agency called me back and said the deal was accepted. It's merely this:

Cover the state Monday afternoon and early Tuesday morning with radio spots urging the people to turn out Tuesday and VOTE.

You know how it is with special elections — sort of like local school elections — mom's busy with the household, pop's off on a fishing trip — and only a corporal's guard shows up at the polls.

But if you don't vote you'll let THE ONES WHO DO put this debt upon your back — and a 4% sales tax to pay for a dead horse.

The list of organizations that have endorsed the 60-million-dollar bond issue tells you clearly who is against you and where you ought to stand. Here are the endorsers as published in the press:

Arkansas Bankers Association. But the announcement drew sharp criticism from individual bankers as "a rigged deal." They said Dick Simpson of Eureka Springs, state banking commissioner, was "very active" in the state association, and state-chartered banks controlled the group. Bear in mind, however, the state government has a handy club over all banks — the allocation of interest-free state deposits. Regardless of that, I don't believe individual bankers are going to vote for a public proposition which, if presented as a request for a private bond, would be pitched out the door.

Arkansas Municipal League. This is officialdom, not the people. Involved also are the county judges, although I don't know that they have gone on public record. Both city and county governments get general fund turnback money from the state. Last time I checked the figures Hempstead county got $36,000 a year and the City of Hope $24,000. They have to stay in the good graces of state officialdom or their water might be cut off.

Arkansas Farm Bureau. I have no explanation except the probability that large landowners are counting on the burden falling upon a sales tax rather than putting the bite on themselves. But land is the most visible of all assets, and a prudent operator would do well before committing his state to a 90-million-dollar debt not knowing for sure which way the tax winds might blow.

Arkansas State Building & Construction Trades Council. They, of course, hope to make money out of your misfortune.

Fool 'em next Tuesday and vote AGAINST BONDS.

(If you want to help beat this thing send your check to: Arkansas Committee for the Public Schools, 1500 West Fourth St., Little Rock. Or leave it at The Star office and we will forward it. It's a little man's fight that needs all the help it can get.)

300 Club Boys, Girls Visit Hope Station

"Pound for pound, pickles use more labor for processing than any other fruit or vegetable crop in Arkansas. At the same time, they rank second or third in financial returns per acre if properly handled."

This statement was made at a Youth Visiting Day program at the University of Arkansas' Southwest Branch Experiment Station at Hope by Earl J. Allen, Extension horticulturist for the university.

Approximately 300 4-H club members and leaders from 17 counties in the southwest district of Arkansas heard Allen's discussion of "Problems of Cucumber Production" as part of the day's activities. Allen explained the procedure necessary to obtain pickles of high grade and quality in order to get high income returns. He said that farmers could make as much as $600 per acre for a pickle crop.

An exhibit of the various types of pickle packs and the quality necessary for a good fancy pack of pickles was shown with the talk.

Other activities during the day included a hayride tour of the station by county groups as they arrived.

Besides the discussion and exhibit on cucumbers, there were exhibits and demonstrations on starting chicks properly, and wood products.

Following luncheon, Cecil M. Bittle, assistant director in charge of the station, welcomed the visitors. Miss Dorothy Price, southwest district home demonstration agent, also spoke briefly to the group.

Master of ceremonies was Jimmy Connor of Arkadelphia, president State 4-H Club council.

Earl Hooker of DeQueen, president of the state 4-H club leader's council, spoke on "Opportunities in 4-H." Four H-boys and girls who take advantage of the many opportunities reaped important training and experience in citizenship work and leadership activities. This is good for the boy or girl whatever his or her future profession might be.

Talent numbers for the program were conducted by Miss Judy Austin, vice-president, southwest district 4-H Club Council, Pike county.

Temperatures Cool in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool temperatures and widespread showers prevailed over most of the eastern half of the nation today, with fair skies elsewhere.

Rains spread from the Carolinas northward through New England. In a six-hour span both Scranton, Pa., and Elizabeth City, N.C., reported 127 inches.

Showers and thundershowers also fell on Iowa, Minnesota, northern Illinois, Wisconsin, in northeast Kansas and upper Michigan with the heaviest fall of about one-third of an inch in Wisconsin. Some fog and low clouds lingered along the Southern California coast.

U. S. Told Not to Misjudge Japanese

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda said today it would be a "gross misjudgment" to think democratic government cannot grow in Japan or that Japan may turn Communist.

In a speech for a National Press Club luncheon, Ikeda said democratic principles have so deeply penetrated the Japanese people that "their devotion to these principles can never be weakened."

The Japanese leader said he had no intention of making any apologies for democratic government in Japan.

It was the rioting over the security pact that caused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel his visit to Japan.

Ikeda appeared at the press club after concluding a series of talks with President Kennedy.

"We had a most candid and profitable exchange of views," he said.

Ikeda called for more positive and concerted efforts to create conditions of progress in the less advanced areas.

But it would be folly to think, he said, that "Communist infiltration can be checked merely by solving the problems of poverty and disease."

Even among employed persons assured of three meals a day there can be unrest and discontent if there is no hope for a better future for themselves and their community, he added.

Ikeda has suggested that Japan act as a middle-man for U.S. economic development programs in Southeast Asia.

Five Indictments Are Returned by the Grand Jury

The Hempstead County Grand Jury, in session here for several weeks, returned five indictments against three persons following an investigation of activities of former Judge U. G. Garrett and other county officials.

The jury had warrants issued for the following:

Mrs. Wanda Grinnett, secretary to Judge Garrett during his tenure in office, was charged with embezzlement and, or, grand larceny by bailment;

L. E. Poteet, local Magnolia Petroleum Co. distributor, was charged in two indictments, one for obtaining money under false pretense; and a second for forgery;

Former Judge U. G. Garrett was also charged on two counts, for allowance of claims in violation of Sect. 41320-24 Inc. and converting the proceeds to his own use; and for failure to pay over public funds.

Warrants for the arrest of all three were drawn up and served this morning by Sheriff Jimmie Griffin. All three posted $1000.00 bonds and were released.

A complete report of the jury has not been released. After issuing the indictments the jury adjourned until September 25.

The jury was called into session on May 11 "to inspect the county property and to determine if there has been any willful and corrupt misconduct in office of public officers."

Prior to the jury session three taxpayers' suits were filed against former Judge Garrett, the first on March 13 and the others shortly after. Two suits were filed by B. W. Edwards, retired contractor, and the third by Monroe Kent, former, The latter suit named William Duckett, Sr., and Duckett Equipment Co., as a co-defendant.

Fourth suit was filed against the former county judge on June 15 and named L. E. Poteet as co-defendant. This suit was also filed by Edwards.

All the civil suits were filed to recover money and property which the plaintiffs contend belongs to the county.

At the time of the first suit an "Association for Better Government in Hempstead County" was organized and this group paid for a special audit of county records which was made available to the grand jury for study.

Yesterday James H. Pilkinton, attorney for the Citizens Committee of the grand jury it would have no effect on the civil suits.

The Citizens Committee recently incorporated as a non-profit group interested in future as well as past events and is solely for the purpose of promoting better government in this county. The group's bylaws forbid it taking part in any county politics or sponsoring any candidate.

President Ill With a Virus Infection

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy was stricken with a mild virus infection during the night but his doctor said today his temperature has returned to normal and the ailment should run its course within two days.

Dr. Janet Travell, the White House physician, described the illness as "probably a mixed bacterial and viral infection."

Dr. Travell reported on the President's condition at a special-ty called news conference. It was the first time newsmen have been permitted to interview the White House physician. They had sought news conferences with her several times since the President developed a back ailment several weeks ago.

Kennedy advanced during the night feeling ill and Dr. Travell was called to his bedside at 1:30 a.m.

She had examined the President again this morning with Dr. Preston Wade, New York orthopedic specialist whom she summoned to Washington for consultation.

Wade was called to help determine if the infection had any effect on the back strain which put Kennedy on crutches for 12 days.

The President's temperature hit 101.6 degrees at one time.

Adlai Report on Latins Is Gloomy

By MAX HARRELSON

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson left for Washington today, reportedly gloomy about South America but feeling most of the continent's governments are under good leadership and working toward improvement.

Stevenson spent 18 days touring 10 nations to discuss President Kennedy's plans for development in South America.

Stevenson's U.S. military plane left heavily guarded Techo military airport at 8:05 a.m. Apparently trying to forestall hostile demonstrations, officials had announced he would leave at 10 a.m.

In a brief statement, Stevenson said his two days of discussions with Colombian officials were "most gratifying."

Informed quarters said Stevenson would tell Kennedy Friday conditions deteriorated in South America in the last year, but that he feels governments are more aware of the danger posed by Communist subversion and economic ills.

He also was understood to feel that anti-American sentiment rose sharply after the April invasion of Cuba but that it is subsiding with time.

Associates said Stevenson feels the United States must grant substantial funds for Kennedy's alliance-for-progress plan to work.

On the brighter side, Stevenson reportedly found greater government preoccupation with the danger in present economic conditions and greater efforts to bring reforms in tax systems, land use, housing, education and administration.

Suit Against Gas Merger Is Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — No hearing date was set immediately on a stockholders' suit to halt the proposed merger of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and MidSouth Gas Co.

The suit was filed in Pulaski Chancery Court Wednesday by a group of MidSouth stockholders who opposed the planned merger at the June 8 meeting when a majority of MidSouth stockholders voted in favor of the plan.

Defendants in the suit are MidSouth; C. E. Cloud, its president; and several other officers and directors of the firm.

The suit charges that the May 3 agreement in which the defendant officials agreed to the merger was beyond their limits of authority.

It maintained that stockholders were not given valid notice of the June 8 meeting and that the majority of proxy votes favoring merger were allegedly solicited by the defendant officers and directors.

The suit further maintained that there is no valid legal authority under state laws for the merger of corporations.

Also protested was the stock exchange under which two shares of MidSouth would be swapped for one share of Arkla stock. The suit said a share of MidSouth stock has far more value than half a share of Arkla stock.

Presbyterians to Have Five Visitors Sun.

There will be five visitors from the Oklahoma Presbyterian College in Durant, Okla., at the First Presbyterian Church here Sunday, June 25. They will be guests of Mrs. Dorsey McTee, Sr., who met two of the young ladies when she was a member of a caravan that visited Presbyterian Indian Schools in Oklahoma and Texas and a Chinese Church in New Orleans, La. last year.

Miss Amy Robinson, President of O. P. C., wants the Women of the Church to see the results of the birthday offering which gives scholarships to young people in many parts of the world.

The visitors will include Miss Tommie Marie Cousins, Anglo-American; Miss Adeline Frazier, Indian-American; Miss Kam-Har Law, Chinese of British Hong Kong; Miss Teresa Sanchez, Latin American; Miss Marietta Yarnell, director of public relations for O. P. C.

Local Presbyterian young people will have the group as guests Sunday night, and afterwards members of the W. O. C. are invited to meet them in the chapel.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York World-Telegram and Sun reported today that a group of extremists plotted to kill United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson on his recent visit to Buenos Aires.

The newspaper also reported that a U.S. security guard, who had conferred with Argentine police about the alleged assassination attempt, was shot and critically wounded by gunmen four days after Stevenson left.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House refused today to discard a U.S. security guard, who had conferred with Argentine police about the alleged assassination attempt, was shot and critically wounded by gunmen four days after Stevenson left.

The vote was 197-164 against adopting the Republican substitute. Its sponsors said this would cost only $1.1 billion against at least $9 billion for the Democratic version — which the Democrats themselves price at $4.9 billion.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate passage today sent to President Kennedy the bill extending present corporation income and major excise tax rates to preserve $3.7 billion of annual revenue.

The Senate acted by voice vote after only brief debate. The House passed the measure earlier.

Washington Plans Annual Celebration

Thurston Hulsey, contestant chairman of the Hempstead County Forestry Queen contest, to be held in connection with the Pioneer Washington July Fourth celebration, urges contestants to mail their entries to him promptly.

According to rules of the Arkansas Forestry Queen Program, candidates must be 17 years of age, not over 24 by September 2, and a high school graduate. Beauty, poise, personality and speech will be the basis for judging. Special talents are not necessary to enter. Candidates will be judged in street dress only.

The county winner will enter district and state-wide competition for Arkansas Forestry Queen, who will reign for one year, and will be required to make public appearances, both in and out of the state, before all types of groups and organizations.

Hempstead County candidates should submit their entries to Thurston Hulsey, Washington, Arkansas this week. The contest will be held on the afternoon of July 4 as a feature of the Fourth annual Pioneer Washington Independence Day celebration. The Magnolia Garden Club of Washington is sponsor of the contest.

Laney Says State Can't Afford Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Ben Laney declared today that those least able to pay would have to share in the cost of retiring Gov. Orval E. Faubus' proposed $60 million bond issue.

He spoke his views at a news conference some hours before Faubus was scheduled to make a third statewide radio-television speech in behalf of the bonds tonight.

For the pro-bond side, Education Commissioner Arch Ford started mailing out letters to the state's 15,000 school teachers urging support of the program. He disclosed Wednesday he was writing the letters.

Laney said Arkansas was already bonded "to the hilt" with highway bonds school bonds and local improvement and industrial bonds and that he favored a tax increase, if necessary, rather than more bonds.

He said the proposed bonds weren't adequately financed and that eventually the taxpayer would have to pay.

Both sides issued a flurry of statements Wednesday and former Gov. Sid McMath announced he would speak against the proposal on television next Monday night, a few hours before election day.

In his letter, which he described as a personal appeal to the teachers, Ford said the approaching election was "a choice between progress and stagnation in significant government areas."

"The future leadership of Arkansas is wrapped up in the quality of its institutions of higher learning," he wrote.

His announcement brought a statement from G. F. Castleberry of Newport, president of the anti-bond Arkansas Education Association, that Ford is trying through what he termed "a distortion of the facts" to get teachers to vote in a manner contrary to their best interests.

"This is the first time in my experience that a commissioner of Education has taken this position."

Weight Ruling Is Changed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Trucks with a gross weight of 30,000 pounds or more will be limited to a maximum speed of 35 miles an hour on a 40-mile stretch of state Highway 29 south of Hope to the Louisiana state line. The State Highway Department set the limit Wednesday in a regulation superseding an earlier department order limiting trucks traveling the section of highway to a gross weight of 40,000 pounds.

Engineer to Speak

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Col. A. M. Jacoby, Little Rock District Army Engineer, will speak to delegates to the Arkansas-White-River Basin inter-agency committee at their final session today. The committee is composed of representatives of the governors of eight states and seven federal agencies concerned with water resource development.

One Perishes

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Thirteen-year-old L. A. McKenzia, a Negro burned to death but his two younger brothers escaped unharmed when fire destroyed their home here Wednesday. Authorities said the three youths were the only persons in the house when the fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed the structure.

Faces Charge

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Twenty-four-year-old Robert Walker will be turned over to Kansas City authorities for return there to face robbery charges. Walker waived extradition after his arrest here Wednesday.

Bids Received

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Schwager-Wood Co. of Portland, Ore., was apparent low bidder Wednesday on a contract to provide disconnecting switches and insulators for two power units at Bull Shoals Dam. The Little Rock Engineer's office said the firm bid $17,720. Only other bid received was from U.S.C.O. Power Equipment Corp. of Birmingham, with a proposal of $24,732.

Policeman Dies in Accident

HIAZEN, Ark. (AP) — Luther Elmer Johnson, 48, a Little Rock police officer, was killed instantly Wednesday night when his car and a transport truck collided head-on about three miles east of here on U.S. Highway 70.

Mrs. Edith Otts, 28, of north Little Rock a passenger in the Johnson car, was injured. She was listed in fair condition at a Stuttgart hospital.

The truck driver, Fred Brooks, 47, of Ider, Ala., was not hurt.

Johnson was a 19-year veteran with the Little Rock Police Department. He would have been eligible for retirement next Dec. 16.

President of Katanga Freed

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was freed today after being held a prisoner of the Congolese central government for the past two months.

Smiling broadly and in apparent good health, Tshombe drove up to the residence of Premier Joseph Ileo of the Leopoldville government to hold a news conference.

With him was the Congolese commander in chief, Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

"He is free," Mobutu told newsmen as they entered the house.

GI Insurance Continues Dividends

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—How can the Veterans Administration pay such high dividends on its participating life insurance policies?

That question comes up repeatedly, especially this year as the VA is paying not only its regular annual insurance dividends but also will pay a special dividend amounting to 80 per cent of the regular distribution.

Together, the 1961 payments will total almost $300 million.

The regular 1961 annual dividends were distributed or credited to policyholders by March 17—some $238.5 million to about 5.06 million veterans—instead of being spread as usual through the year.

The first special dividends since annual dividends were instituted in 1952 will total about $230 million. The first checks are to go in the mails late this month with completion of the payments now scheduled for about Aug. 1 instead of the earlier announced goal of Labor Day.

Officials say there are several contributing factors to VA's ability to pay such dividends:

1. The laws which established the insurance programs fixed the mortality rates at high levels which prevailed in the 1880s and present death rates are much lower. Thus higher premiums are required and relatively large dividends are paid.
2. The government pays the administrative (overhead) costs of the programs and does not charge them to the insurance trust funds.
3. Claims arising from extra hazardous military duty ultimately are paid from appropriated funds and not charged against the trust funds.

The policies on which dividends are paid are largely U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) primarily held by World War I veterans and National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) primarily held by World War II veterans.

No new NSLI or USGLI policies may be issued though lapsed policies may be reinstated by complying with requirements.

The VA has other insurance programs but they do not have general dividend participation policies.

education has sent a letter to all teachers in an effort to influence their votes on any issue," Castleberry's prepared statement said. "Under any circumstances it would be deplorable."

Eugene R. Warren, AEA attorney, attacked the horse race aspect of the bond program in a television appearance at El Dorado.

"If you are not convinced that this deal gives tenure to the extra days of horse racing and is a boon to the bookies," Warren said, "Then ask yourself why the bookies in Hot Springs are all contributing to the campaign fund."

Revenue from an extra 12 days of racing at Hot Springs' Oaklawn Park would be pledged to help retire the bonds.

"There is no connection between bookmaking and booklearning," Warren said.

The horse racing angle also came in for attack by Dr. Dale Cowling, pastor of Little Rock's Second Baptist Church.

"Any citizen of Arkansas who votes for this bond issue," Cowling told a Little Rock civic club, "must accept the responsibility of supporting evil."

He referred to the racing angle as "an insidious moral evil, which he said places backers of the bond program 'in the terrible position of responsibility for the crime, misery, economic blight and other evils which hover under the wings of race track gambling.'"

Negro Slayer Simply Mad at World

MALVERN, Ark. (AP)—To charges of first degree murder were filed here Wednesday against William Shuler Joe, 22, an unemployed Negro who fatally shot two persons and wounded five others because he was mad at the world.

Joe was being held in an undisclosed jail.

The husky, 200-pound Negro, angry because he was made to wait for service at the state Employment Security Division office here stole a .30 caliber rifle at a nearby store, shot three persons in the ESD office and fled, still firing wildly.

He wounded three others in his flight and then shot another from a weed patch sanctuary as officers closed in on him. He surrendered meekly after police lobbed tear gas grenades around him.

Shirley M. R. Gill said Joe apparently lost his head because he wasn't helped immediately at the ESD office where he went to sign up for an unemployment compensation check.

The dead were Mrs. Thurber Owens, about 40, an ESD employee, and Billy Joe Buie, 21, of Poyen, a jobseeker.

Seriously wounded were Elwayne Williams, 22, and Phillip Dedman, about 45. Also shot were Roe G. Akers, a not other ESD employee; Norris McDade, 25, and D. D. Glover, 26.

Tried to Save Jews, Says Eichmann

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann testified today he tried to save Europe's Jews by creating a homeland for them on the island of Madagascar.

The former Gestapo lieutenant colonel said he conceived the "Madagascar plan" that was jugged around in high Nazi circles in 1940 but never got past the paper stage.

Eichmann identified principal portions of the plan as his own, particularly a study of climate and living conditions on the French island off the East African coast.

The defendant, accused of a major role in the Nazi extermination of six million Jews, did not explain how or when the Madagascar scheme foundered. Israel has produced evidence that Hitler, Heinrich Himmler and Gestapo chief Reinhard Heydrich decided on mass extermination "as the final solution of the Jewish problem" early in 1941.

Hitler, in published accounts of his informal nightly conversations over tea, said he rather favored the Madagascar scheme for a while because conditions there would eventually wipe out the Jews.

On the witness stand for the third day, Eichmann insisted he always approached the "solution" to the Jewish problem by "trying to put some ground, some soil, under their feet."

The Madagascar idea was the first action Eichmann claimed as his own. Everything else, he said, was done under orders from somebody else. He contended he was in the Berlin headquarters of the Gestapo "against my will."

Hospital Bids Are Received

PHILIPVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Phillips Construction Co., of Osceola submitted apparent low bids Wednesday for construction of additions to Mississippi County hospitals here and at Osceola.

Phillips bid $333,801 on the Blytheville job and $103,285 on the work at Osceola.

A suit filed by a Leachville-Manila group seeking to halt the construction now is pending in Chancery Court.

The group contends the county should build a new hospital in the western part of the county.

Summer Recreation

We can all point with pride to our own local "Fair Park", with the wonderful facilities it has for the recreation of our children, as well as for the adults. If you haven't been out to the park lately you should drop out soon. There has been new equipment added to the area for small children. The baseball program is in full swing and needs the support of everyone. The swimming pool is open, lots of tables for picnicking with the family and friends, many rides, swings and playgrounds. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company Employees are glad to be a part of this community and are proud of our city park and the summer recreation program provided by the City of Hope.

Watch Out for Kids

Every year at this time we hear a lot about the kids out of school for the summer, and that we should be extremely careful in our driving.

You might be saying to yourself now, "I've heard this several times before this summer, and at least 50 times every summer since I started driving. Why don't they quit telling us to drive carefully?" The main reason why we are constantly told to watch out for the kids is because the number of accidents involving children increases every year when school does let out.

Accidents are terrible things. All you have to do is be in one, or see the results of one to begin slowing down. I hope everyone in Hope will think about this and be even more careful than they usually are. If we all do, not a single child will go to school on crutches this next fall, and not a single boy or girl will be missing from class completely as a result of an auto accident.

Tool Chest on Wheels

I'll bet there isn't a housewife anywhere who hasn't found, at one time or another, she lacked an ingredient for a recipe she was preparing. Or, for that matter, I wonder how many husbands have the right size washer when they want to fix a leaky faucet.

Our men who install telephones avoid situations like these by carrying a full assortment of parts and tools right with them. Their trucks are really Parts Departments on wheels, stocked with over 400 different items. They're prepared for every job when they call to install or repair telephone service for you.

Being ready for the unexpected is just part of our effort at the telephone company to make sure your service is as convenient and trouble-free as is humanly possible.

Call by number. No need to ask.

Thursday, June 22

The V. F. W. Auxiliary will meet Thursday night, June 22, at 7:30 at the V.F.W. hut.

The Ambassador Sunday School Class of Garrett Memorial Church will have a pot luck supper at the Fair Park Thursday night, June 22, at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Dale Henry Honoree at Party

In honor of Mrs. Dale Henry, who is moving to Malvern in the near future a Going Away Party W. C. Bramlett Wednesday morning, June 21, Co-hostesses were Mrs. J. O. Luck, Mrs. S. L. Murphy, and Mrs. Harry Shiver. The home was beautifully decorated with early summer flowers. Magnolia blossoms were on the mantle, and stasia daisies, roses, day lilies, and marguerites were seen throughout the entertainment rooms.

The guest of honor was given a corsage of peppermint carnations. As a gift the hostesses presented her with pictures for a home decorated in the early American style. The Rose Garden Club of Hope gave her a gift of milk glass.

Covered with a gray linen cloth, the serving table was centered with pink carnations and abalita with crystal and silver appointments. Mrs. Charles Stone, sister of the honoree, served the punch, while Mrs. Charles Buller poured the coffee. About 60 guests called between the hours of 10 and 12 a. m.

Legion Auxiliary Meets

Urging the purchase of new American flags by the 4th of July is a project adopted by the American Legion Auxiliary of Leslie Huddleston Post No. 12 at its meeting Tuesday night, June 20. Mrs. E. S. Franklin, Mrs. Mamie Gentry, and Mrs. Alvin Robertson were co-hostesses at the Franklin home.

A new slate of officers presented by the nominating committee was accepted unanimously. It is: president, Mrs. Thomas Campbell; vice president, Mrs. Glen Williams; secretary, Mrs. M. M. McCloughan; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Gunter; chaplain, Mrs. E. S. Franklin; historian, Mrs. Clyde Coffee; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Mamie Gentry; parliamentarian, Mrs. C. P. Tolleson. They will be installed at the July meeting.

At the business meeting Mrs. C. E. Weaver presided. A report was given on the Poppy Sale last month, and auxiliary membership was discussed. Appointed to rewrite the constitution for the local organization and to make a study of its bylaws were Mrs. Clyde Sexton, Mrs. Joe Jones, and Mrs. M. M. McCloughan.

Rosebuds, blue hydrangeas, pink dahlias, and other seasonal flowers decorated the home. For refreshments orange sherbet and yellow cake were served to 17, including one guest, Mrs. Fred Glanton.

Annie Hoover Circle Meets

The Annie Hoover Missionary Circle met Monday morning, June 19th, at 9:30, in the home of Mrs. Perry Moses on Springhill Road.

Delicate sandwiches, assorted cookies, and punch were served by the hostess to members present. Mrs. Ned Purdie, Program Chairman, led the program, "Teach Me To Pray" (The Power of Prayer). Those participating were Mrs. J. W. Leonard, Mrs. Eugene Pendergraft, and Mrs. Perry Moses. Following the program, Mrs. Moses, Circle Chairman, conducted the business meeting. This circle will serve as hostesses for the July Royal Service Noon Luncheon. The meeting adjourned with prayer.

Hope Jayceettes Meet At Community Room

The Hope Jayceettes met Tuesday, June 20 in the Community Room of the First National Bank. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Carter Russell. A motion was made to cancel plans for a style show to be held in July and other projects were brought up for discussion. Plans were made to hold a rummage sale to help on expenses for Jayceettes going to a State Board meeting in Blytheville in August.

There were 10 members present, and Mrs. Dorothy Redd was elected treasurer. After the business meeting the hostess, Mrs. Raymond Byers served cookies, candy, nuts and cold drinks.

Wesleyan Service Guild No. 2 Meets With Miss Mary Anita Laseter

Miss Mary Anita Laseter was the hostess for the Wesleyan Service Guild No. 2 in her home on Monday night, June 19 at 7:30. The regular business session was presided over by the president, Miss Laseter who also voiced a prayer. Mrs. J. C. Carlton gave the devotion from the 10 chapter of Luke. Installation of the new officers for the coming year was under the direction of Mrs. James McLarty, district secretary, who also gave some pointers on making the Guild mean more to each member.

A dessert plate and punch was served to 11 members and 2 visitors at the close of the meeting.

Tea Given For Jo Ann Carrigan

Dr. Jo Ann Carrigan, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Carrigan of Washington, was honored with an afternoon tea at the Old Tavern in Washington on Thursday afternoon, June 15. Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Norwood, Mrs. Paul Diney, Mrs. Emil Zvonik of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Margaret May.

The occasion for the tea was to honor Dr. Carrigan who recently received a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Louisiana State University. She was presented a gift from home town friends.

Assisting the hostesses were little Misses Nancy Valentine and Sylvia Zvonik. They met guests on the Tavern porch and directed them.

The serving table, covered with a white linen cut-work cloth over a yellow background, was centered with a beautiful arrangement of Shasta daisies and Queen

Iron Lung Fails to Halt Travel

CAMARILLO, Calif. (AP) — Marie Thompson 35 is seeing Southern California reflected in an 18-by-24-inch mirror — on her iron lung.

Mrs. Thompson, confined to the lung day and night for 8½ years, doesn't let this hamper her yen for travel.

Touring is possible because of the specially designed panel truck Mrs. Thompson calls the Blue Angel.

The Blue Angel arrived in Camarillo Tuesday from the Thompson home in San Leandro, in the San Francisco East Bay area. The truck was driven by nurse Louette Barber. Mrs. Thompson's children, Marie Ruth, 14; Jay, 12, and Gay, 10, were in a car driven by Marion Ray.

The visitors are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Delay in this Ventura County community north of Los Angeles.

"It's a dream come true," she said. "You wouldn't believe how much I can see."

Mrs. Thompson's late husband, the Rev. Fred Thompson, designed and outfitted the panel truck. It has portable generators, a resuscitator, humidifier, a ramp and other equipment. They made some short trips in it together but in 1956 he was killed while working on their San Leandro home.

As the Blue Angel rolls along, Mrs. Thompson watches the landscape unroll behind her in her mirror.

"Oh, there are so many places I want to go—so many things I want to see," she said. "We'll be on this trip for a month, probably as long as there's anything to enjoy."

Anne's lace

The hostesses alternated at the punch bowl. Guests were served yellow fruit punch and iced cake squares.

Tuesday Bridge Club

On Tuesday afternoon, June 20 Mrs. Garrett Story entertained with three tables of bridge. She had chrysanthemums, daisies and roses enhancing her home. Those playing were members of a local Tuesday Bridge Club and one extra table consisting of Mrs. M. M. McCloughan, Mrs. R. V. Herndon, Mrs. Tom Kinser, and Mrs. R. E. Cooper.

When scores were tallied, Mrs. John Britt was high. The game prize went to Mrs. R. E. Cooper. For refreshments the hostess served a salad plate with coffee.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barrantline of Pine Bluff announce the birth of a daughter on June 11. Named Judy Gay, the little girl weighed 6 pounds 6 ounces. Her grandparents, all of Hope, are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barrantline and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Allen.

Coming and Going

Mrs. W. J. Hatley, Mrs. J. B. Morgan, Mrs. Roy McClurkin, Mrs. Marvin Davis of Stephens left June 19 for northern Michigan to visit relatives and friends. They will cross the Straits of Mackinaw to Canada, and east to Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. They will return home in late July.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Story, Jr., and family of Greenville, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Drake of Little Rock were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Story.

Johnny Anthony and George Wright, Jr., returned home Sunday from Shreveport, La., and a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Metcalf, Linda, Diane, and Danny returned Thursday to their home in Indian Head, Md., after a visit with Mrs. Metcalf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craine.

Mrs. O. H. Allen has been in Pine Bluff with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Barentine, Mr. Barentine, and family, and met her new granddaughter, Judy Gay Barentine.

Mr. and Mrs. Vistor Craine and Steve of Cleveland, Miss., returned home Thursday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craine and Mrs. Marian Monroe.

His Wife One In a Thousand!

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: What do you think of a father of five children who lied and cheated on his wife? That's me.

The other woman in my life was young enough to be my daughter. I thought I loved her until I learned I wasn't the only man in her life. Yet I can't get this no-god off my mind. Why?

My wife says I had to prove to myself that I was still young. She not only found it in her heart to forgive me but look over the role of nurse when I lay ill. She's a good mother and a good cook. I can't say as much for her housekeeping. Nevertheless, she's one in a thousand. I have everything a man would want right here under my own roof. If there were more wives like mine there would be fewer divorces.

My philandering days are over. How can I make up to my family for what I've done? My wife and I both read your column. — Ashamed.

Dear Ashamed: Show your contriteness by being ever thoughtful and loving. Bring presents. Surprise your wife with some little extravagance which she wouldn't buy herself. Take her to dinner or a show. Start courting her all over again. Make her feel she is the one and only girl for you and believe it yourself. Once you do, the other woman will recede into the limbo where she belongs. Your wife is truly one in a thousand. Grapple her to you with bonds of love.

Dear Helen: If we had $2 left to our name, my husband would take one and buy beer. He'll work four months and loaf seven.

He is 27. I am 24. We've been married seven years and have three darling little girls but all he does is yell at them. He says he loves me but never shows it. I've left him three times and divorced him once but, because my religion doesn't recognize divorce, we remarried. Now it's got to the point where I take it out on the children which is a pity, for they've suffered enough.

Should I start thinking of them and leave him or should I go on trying? If I did leave, where would I go and what could I do? My family won't help. My husband knows this. Help me! — Trying.

Dear Trying: Make up your mind once and for all. Either call it a day and leave or stay and say nothing. If your religion doesn't permit divorce, how about a separation? Put your children in a day nursery and find a job. It isn't the ideal solution for the children but it's better than being subjected to frazzled-nerve treatment from both father and mother. That old adage, "The Lord helps those who help themselves," is still wise counsel. Once you come to a positive decision, the way will open.

To Place 30,000 Dogs on Leash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 30,000 dogs in this city are supposed to go on leash July 22.

Dear Helen: Is it possible for one man to love two women? I am a 30 year old who is very much in love with a married man. He says he loves me. But, he also loves his wife. They have six children. I know what I'm doing is wrong. I also know this man can never marry me. I've tried to be strong and told him to go forever. He goes but always comes back. He is the man I've been looking for. What shall I do? — Lonely Heart.

Dear Lonely Heart: You're asking for heartbreaks and tragedy if you continue this "back street" relation. Put the man out of your life once and for all.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Attention from Married Men."

or else— But no one is sure just what else.

The police claim they shouldn't have to chase dogs, that it's a job for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The SPCA agrees, but its professional catchers want to know what it said in the new ordinance. In other words, are all unleashed dogs to be impounded? If so, the SPCA wants a "dog task force." And that will cost money.

Anyway, Mayor George Christopher has said he'll sign the ordinance.

In Australia a cruiser is a very large glass of beer, a schooner is the next biggest, a middy is a 10-ouncer, and a pony is the smallest glass of beer.

Rusk Slated to Give U. S. Reaction

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials today viewed Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest declaration on East-West issues as a stepup in his post-Vienna cold war campaign.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was slated to voice the U. S. government's views at an afternoon news conference.

At a Moscow rally Wednesday,

Khrushchev said a peace treaty with Germany will be signed "at the end of this year." And he declared that if the United States resumes atomic testing, the Soviets immediately will do so too.

He set forth his Berlin timetable more precisely than he did during or since his talks at Vienna June 34 with President Kennedy.

Under Khrushchev's plan for a treaty with East Germany, the Soviets would give the Communist East German regime control over access to Berlin. The West ern powers, which do not recognize East Germany, regard this as a move to rush them out of the Red-encircled city.

U. S. experts, still studying the text of Khrushchev's remarks, were of differing opinions as to whether the Soviet chief had served an "ultimatum" on the German question.

It was recalled that Khrushchev once before set a six-month deadline on a German peace treaty without going through with a separate pact with East Germany. Also, it remained to be seen how far the Kremlin actually would move to push the Western allies out of West Berlin if it did conclude an East German treaty.

Nevertheless, U. S. authorities took Khrushchev's warning on Germany with great seriousness. Discussions were under way with Western allies.

Khrushchev's threat to resume nuclear tests was similar to statements he has made before. U. S. officials believe he is not interested in getting a treaty outlawing atomic explosions.

Czech Envoy Bows to U. S. Pressure

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Czech U. N. Delegate Miroslav Naevalac bowed to U. S. pressure today and arranged to fly home to escape deportation as a spy.

Naevalac, 39, No. 3 man in his country's U. N. delegation, reserved space on a French airliner for himself, his wife and two sons.

The reservations first were made for an 11 a. m. flight but later changed without explanation for one leaving New York at 6 p. m.

Naevalac, accused by the U. S.

government of being Czechoslovakia's top spy in the country, had rejected an earlier U. S. demand that he leave the country.

He changed his plans after

Washington announced it had revoked his status as a member of Czechoslovakia's U. N. mission, making him an alien in the country illegally. The United States said he could either leave voluntarily or be deported.

Czechoslovakia — and Naevalac

— denied the U. S. charges and accused the United States of violating the "headquarters" agreement between the United States and the U. N., which establishes the special rights and diplomatic immunity of foreign diplomats accredited to the U. N.

A spokesman for the Czechoslovak delegation said his government would continue to press in the U. N. to prove that the United States had no right to oust Naevalac. The Communist bloc was expected to make extensive use of the incident in its campaign to move U. N. headquarters from New York to Vienna or some other "neutral" European city.

It was the first time the U. S.

government had forced the recall of a diplomat attached to a U. N. delegation. Previously the United States had successfully demanded the withdrawal of Soviet U. N. secretariat employees accused of espionage activities.

Czechoslovakia protested to the U. N. secretariat last weekend that earlier in the week two U. S. intelligence agents, at a meeting with Naevalac in a New York restaurant, had tried to enlist him as a spy. The protest said that after he turned them down, the U. S. mission to the U. N. demanded that he leave the country.

The State Department in reply said Naevalac had indicated he wanted to defect and that he was ordered out after he showed he was not sincere. On Tuesday, in a detailed note to U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, the United States charged Naevalac paid $1,700 over a three-year period to a U. S. Army language instructor in Monterey, Calif., for information on students at the Army Language School.

By 1955 Russia and West Germany had established official relations for doing business.

But the West Germans and the Western allies refused to recognize the East German Communist government as legitimate because it was not based on free elections. They still keep that position to this day.

Yet, while Russia said Communist

East Germany was fully sovereign, it kept in its own hands control of those access routes from the West to West Berlin.

It was a good way to avoid trouble. No one could predict what would happen if, for instance, the Russians gave the East Germans control of those routes and the allies refused to deal with them because they were not considered legitimate.

Meanwhile, West Berlin had become a bleeding sore to the Communists. Right in the heart of the Communist world it was a Western showcase of prosperity.

It was also a handy refuge for East Germans fleeing from communism. The Russians said it was a spy center for the West.

Finally, Premier Khrushchev threatened to turn control of the supply routes to the East Germans in 1958. He built this threat toward a crisis.

In 1959 President Dwight D.

Eisenhower met with him and cooled him down. But Khrushchev still insisted, although more quietly, there had to be a settlement.

Now once again he makes the threat which has dangerous implications for these reasons:

The West, because of the agreements mentioned here, claims it doesn't need permission to keep troops in Berlin and move supplies and people into the city. The West argues the Soviets have no right to interfere.

Khrushchev says those Western rights are outdated by history. Turning control of the access routes over to the East Germans wouldn't mean anything by itself.

The East Germans couldn't by themselves attempt to keep the allies from Berlin—the West could run over them—and therefore would need Soviet support. Soviet support against a Western smash-through would mean war.

How West Got Into the Berlin Tangle

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on how East and West got tangled in the Berlin net which may drag the world into crisis before 1961 ends.

The central question: Will Russia try to grab off Berlin by shutting down the routes over which the West sends supplies and people to the city?

The United States, Britain and

Russia—during and immediately after world war II—agreed:

1. To divide Germany into four zones — France was included — with each of the Big Four occupying one zone.

The Russian zone naturally was in the East since it was nearest Russia. And Berlin, since it is in Eastern Germany, was in the Russian zone.

2. To treat Berlin as a special area, with each of the Big Four allowed to have troops there.

The city was to be run by the four powers' military commanders. Each was to serve in rotation as chief commander.

All Western people and supplies bound for Berlin—since it was in the Russian zone, now known as Communist East Germany—had to move through that zone.

In light of what follows these two questions are pertinent:

Was there any agreement with the Russians on specific access routes to Berlin? Did the Russians agree to keep them open?

In 1945 former Soviet Premier

Stalin agreed with former President Harry Truman that the allies would have free access. And the State Department in 1958 said specific routes were agreed to.

Things went fine but not for long. Real trouble began in 1946 when Communists were overwhelmingly defeated in Berlin's first free elections in 14 years.

The Russian commandant in Berlin vetoed the election of a pro-Western mayor. More vetoes followed.

In 1947 the Big Four sat down to work out a German peace treaty. The result: zero.

So the United States, Britain,

France and some other West European countries called for setting up a West German federation.

The Soviets, protesting, quit the Allied Control Council in Berlin. In 1948, contrary to his agreement with Truman, Stalin shut off Berlin from the west by closing down all the access routes: rail, road, water, air.

Truman ordered an airlift to supply the city. This, after almost a year, broke the blockade.

That same year, 1949, the new states of West Germany and Communist East Germany were founded, with the Soviets agreeing the Western allies would have at least the same access routes to Berlin as before the blockade.

By this time West Berlin, of course, was thoroughly pro-West. The Russian sector of the city, East Berlin, was under the Soviet thumb.

By 1955 Russia and West Germany had established official relations for doing business.

But the West Germans and the Western allies refused to recognize the East German Communist government as legitimate because it was not based on free elections. They still keep that position to this day.

Yet, while Russia said Communist

East Germany was fully sovereign, it kept in its own hands control of those access routes from the West to West Berlin.

Tidbits to Talk About in Filmland

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie colony had these tidbits to talk about today

Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner, who embarked 3 1/2 years ago on a marriage their fans considered perfect, are living apart.

The announcement Tuesday caught the movie colony by surprise. A spokesman said it would be a trial separation; the couple has no immediate plans for divorce.

Wagner, 31, and onetime child star Natalie, now 22, were married Dec. 22, 1957 in Scottsdale, Ariz.

A squabble among lawyers appears to have snarled Lana Turner's offer to settle a $750,000 civil suit for $20,000.

The action stemmed from the 1958 knife death of Johnny Stompanato, Lana's boy friend at the time. Her daughter, Cheryl Crane, now 17, told investigators she stabbed Stompanato to protect Lana.

A coroner's jury ruled the case justifiable homicide.

Attorney Melvin Belli, who prepared the suit in behalf of Stompanato's only child, John Stompanato III, 13, said Tuesday the proposed settlement was off. He said he was annoyed by a statement attributed to Lana's lawyer, Louis G. Blau, that his client was offering the $20,000 settlement only to prevent further publicity.

Bing Crosby's eldest son, Gary,

28, is due in Hollywood today to recuperate from an attack of nervous exhaustion.

"He saw a doctor in Chicago who said he had nervous exhaustion and should quit work immediately," Gary's press agent said Tuesday. "He is to go to bed for a month for a complete rest."

In Chicago, a night club spokesman said Gary's engagement was cancelled because he walked out on the show.

A Los Angeles court has turned down actress Linda Christian's bid for a $200,000 trust fund for her two daughters from the estate of her former husband, actor Tyrone Power, who died in Madrid in 1958.

Noting that the youngsters already have $10,000 yearly potential income from a previously established trust fund, Judge William J. Palmer commented Tuesday: "Only an infinitesimally few of the world's children are so fortunate."

Bumptyous playwright Brendan

Behan and his wife, Beatrice, are en route by train to New York following a high-spirited drinking party he gave for friends Tuesday.

Though he poured liquor liberally for his friends, Behan took nothing but carbonated water and then coffee.

Of his new play, "Richard's

Cork Leg," almost completed, Behan quipped: "It's about sex, politics and religion, in that order—in a ratio of about 60-20-20."

The Milwaukee Braves, matching their longest winning streak of the season with their third straight victory, beat third place San Francisco 5-3 behind right-hander Lew Burdette Wednesday night while first place Cincinnati rapped St. Louis 9-2.

The Los Angeles Dodgers shaved Cincinnati's lead to one game by sweeping a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 4-1 and 4-2. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees beat Kansas City 5-3. The Chicago White Sox walloped third-place Cleveland 15-3, and 11-1. Baltimore beat Minnesota 11-5 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 5-1.

Burdette (6-5) followed up a 2-1, five-hit victory over Los Angeles in his last start with a five-hit decision over the Giants, who now trail by three games. The big right-hander retired 11 batters in a row after the Giants broke a 2-2 tie with Willie Mays' 14th home run in the sixth inning.

The Reds took a 2-1 lead in the first inning against lester Ernie Broglio (6-6) and romped in as Gus Bell and Frank Robinson each hit a homer and drove in five runs between them.

Reliever Larry Sherry saved both games for the Dodgers. He struck out pinch hitter Ed Bouchee and Jerry Kindall with two on in the ninth inning of the opener, saving the victory for Stan Williams (6-6). Then he blanked the Cubs on one hit over 3 1-3 innings in relief of southpaw Johnny Podres (7-1) in the second game.

Travs Find Themselves in 2nd Div.

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the strongest clubs in the Southern Association in April and May, the Little Rock Travelers—now in the midst of a June swoon—found themselves in the second division today only five games removed from the cellar.

Light hitting and a loose defense have combined to put the Travs on the skids. Little Rock pitching ranked fourth in the league in the latest averages, but the defense was the worst and only two clubs had lower batting averages.

Mobile rallied for three runs in the seventh inning last night to whip the Travelers 4-2 and hand them their 15th defeat in the last 19 games. Birmingham and Chattanooga remained in a deadlock for the league lead after splitting a doubleheader. Chattanooga won the opener 6-1 on John Bozer's two-hitter, but the Barons stormed back behind lefty Doug Gallagher's three-hit performance to win the second game. Shreveport scored four runs in the eighth and topped Atlanta 4-3. Nashville and Macon were rained out.

Wednesday a Big Day for White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Wednesday was the biggest major league baseball day in Chicago history and it might have been the day the White Sox decided to make a serious run for the 1961 American League pennant.

The White Sox, who only June 11th were in 10th and last place, Wednesday night moved to within striking distance of first place with a homer-crammed, 15-3, 11-1 twin victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The Hose ran their winning ways to six in a row and 13 decisions in 14 starts after Chicago area fans had been treated to four major league games in a single day.

Earlier, the Cubs dropped an afternoon doubleheader to Los Angeles' Dodgers, 4-1 and 4-2 before 12,365 paid at Wrigley Field. The Sox sweep over the Indians was watched by a sellout Comiskey Park crowd of 45,125, including 37,558 paid and 7,567 Combined Jewish Appeal guests.

When their current streak began, the White Sox were in 10th place, 15 1/2 games off the pace. They have moved up to within 10 games of the first-place Detroit Tigers and are only one game out of fourth place.

This is no surprise to either General Manager Hank Greenberg or field Manager Al Lopez. Said Greenberg: "This is just the law of averages asserting itself. We were like a .300 hitter batting .200. You know such a hitter is going to get back up to .300 — and in the process, he'll be batting .400 over a good stretch. That's just what we're doing now."

Said Lopez: "There were a lot of people snoring on us early when we were floundering. I never gave up, because I knew we were a good ball club. I'm not worried about making the first division now. If we can keep going, we'll still make a helluva run for first place."

Chicago Has Won 13 of Last 14

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, winning

13 of their last 14 games, swept a two-night doubleheader from third place Cleveland 15-3 and 11-1 Wednesday night. Roy Sievers and Al Smith hammered five home runs between them for the sixth-place Sox, with Sievers knocking in seven runs in the opener on a pair of homers, one a pinch-hit grand slam.

Detroit was rained out at Washington and the Tigers' lead was trimmed to one game by New York. The Yankees, scoring all their runs on two homers by Mickey Mantle, won 5-3 at Kansas City. Baltimore defeated Minnesota 11-5, scoring seven runs in the ninth; and the Los Angeles Angels beat Boston 5-1, ending the Red Sox' streak at six games.

In the National League, first-place Cincinnati rapped St. Louis 9-2, but Los Angeles moved within one game of the Reds by beating the Chicago Cubs twice, 4-1 and 4-2. Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 5-3.

Both of Sievers' first-game

Mantle hit a three-run homer in the first inning at Kansas City and then wrapped it up for the Yanks with his 22nd home run, with a man on, in the seventh off Bob Shaw (3-6). Pete Daley (5-9) was the winner.
Jim Gentile drove in three runs, one with a homer, for the Orioles.

NO NEW TAXES for the $60,000,000 Arkansas Building Program!

The building bonds will be paid from our state's general revenue fund. Current taxes are building this fund higher each year. No new taxes will be needed to meet the payments on the bonds to be purchased over a four-year period. In addition, a tightening of the "use tax" will bring in more money along with money from the extended racing season.

In other words, we can meet the immediate and urgent building needs of our State Hospital, Children's Colony, Blind and Deaf Schools, McRae Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and our University and State Colleges—without a cent of extra taxes! This program will launch Arkansas into a new era of progress!

School Teachers' Salaries Are Protected In This Program . . .

In the last session of the Legislature, Act 505 of 1961 was enacted into law and states specifically, "no funds now or hereafter belonging to the Public School Fund shall ever be used, either directly or indirectly, for the payment of any bonds issued under the provisions of the State Institutional Buildings Bond Act of 1961."

Our Mentally Sick, Our Retarded Children, Our Blind and Deaf Students, Our College Youth Need This Program — NOW!

You and I as citizens of Arkansas have failed to give state colleges any money for building new classrooms in the last 20 years. The "patch-quilt" financing they have used has come from student fees, lunch programs, bookstore sales, and snack bar sales. This is a very poor plan of building for the youth of Arkansas and is completely inadequate. The time has come to meet these needs head-on and take the proper care of our college youth. How can we train future Arkansas teachers and other leaders in our colleges if we don't have the necessary room or proper facilities? Everyone realizes the undisputed need for modernizing our State Hospital and the Deaf School, and for expansion of the Children's Colony and the McRae Tuberculosis Sanatorium. Now is the time for action. These immediate and urgent needs of our colleges and institutions must be met—NOW!

HERE'S HOW THE BUILDING FUNDS WILL BE SPENT:

Institution	% of Total	Total	Institution	% of Total	Total
State Hospital	20.00	$12,000,000	Henderson Teachers	5.83	$3,498,000
Children's Colony	6.67	4,002,000	Arkansas State College	7.92	4,752,000
McRae Memorial	.84	504,000	Polytechnic College	5.71	3,426,000
Blind and Deaf Schools	2.50	1,500,000	Southern State	5.29	3,174,000
University of Arkansas	28.29	16,974,000	A. & M. Monticello	5.29	3,174,000
A. M. & N.	5.00	3,000,000	Arkansas State—Beebe Branch	.33	198,000
State Teachers	6.33	3,798,000	Totals	100%	$60,000,000

THESE FUNDS CANNOT BE DIVERTED AND WILL BE ADMINISTERED BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF EACH INSTITUTION!

ON JUNE 27 . . . Vote FOR Arkansas Building Program!

Change Of Pace Breakfast

Quick, easy, refreshing, describes this change of pace breakfast main dish of crisp ready-to-eat high protein cereal, fresh blueberries and sliced bananas, topped with vanilla pudding, softened ice milk or ice cream in place of the usual milk. Complete the menu with buttered raisin bread or toast, and you will have a summertime version of an adequate breakfast.

Regardless of temperature, the body needs a good, nourishing breakfast to perform efficiently throughout the entire morning—summertime is no exception to this rule. Serve breakfast in the coolest spot you can find. An attractive breakfast table can help to encourage your family to start each summer day with an adequate morning meal.

Limits Use of Dues for Politics

By JAMES D. CARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has concluded its current term with a major decision holding that workers compelled to be union members can't have their dues money spent for political purposes against their will.

The court, ruling in a railroad labor case, made it clear it was striking of a union shop situation — one in which the workers have to be members and pay dues to a union to hold their jobs.

Where workers under such an arrangement object to having part of their dues money diverted to political causes, the court held, the union must respect the members' wishes. Otherwise, their right to make a political free choice is lost.

The court's 4 1/2 hour session Monday was the longest of the year and the last until October. The justices handed down opinions in 11 cases and ruled on scores of motions.

In a decision hailed as historic, the court barred use of illegally obtained evidence in state courts, just as such evidence cannot be used in federal courts.

It struck down as unconstitutional a Maryland law prohibiting persons from holding public office who refuse to swear they believe in God.

A fourth significant decision, involving a challenge to Connecticut's birth control laws, was bypassed. The court refused to rule on the statutes which make it a crime to use contraceptives or for doctors to give information on their use. In effect, the state law was allowed to stand.

In other actions the court:

1. Held 7 to 2 that states can compel lawyers to join bar associations and pay dues, even though the lawyers object. Traylon L. Lathrop of Madison, Wis., who brought the complaint, claimed he should not have to pay money into an organization which used such funds for backing legislation he opposed.

The ruling, written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., was not contrary to the decision reached in the labor union case, the majority held. Brennan said the issue of the correctness of whether Lathrop "may constitutionally be compelled to contribute his financial support to political activities which he opposes, was not before the court. He said the decision limited no view as to the issue's correctness.

2. Held unanimously that adequate safeguards must be provided in seizures of obscene publications to prevent the taking of non-obscene publications. The ruling was based on a Missouri case in which only 100 of 280 publications seized by police, acting under a state law, proved to be obscene.

Justice Brennan delivered the majority opinion in the complex decision barring use of union dues for political purposes when the member objects. He said the court was not curtailing "the traditional political activities" of unions but added that unions must not support activities against the wishes of a member "with his exacted money" (his dues).

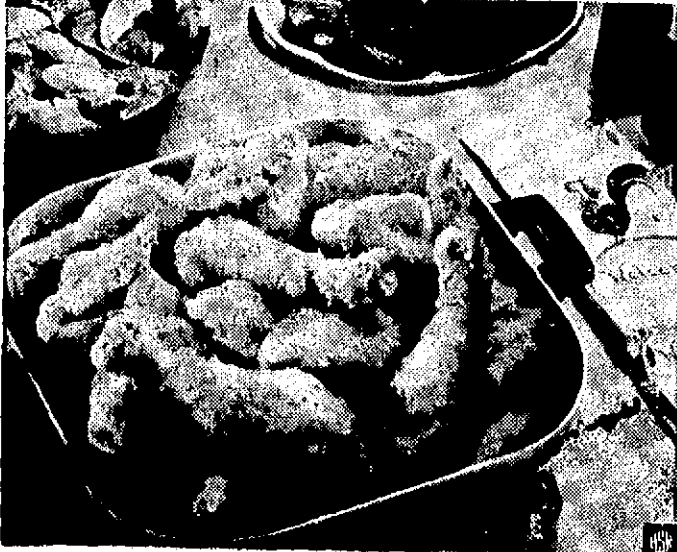

Justice Felix Frankfurter and Justice John M. Harlan joined in one dissent. Justice Hugo Black wrote another dissent and Justice Charles E. Whitaker dissented in part.

Miss Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jayne Sue Thomas, 18, a sophomore-to-be at Hendrix College in Conway, is the new Miss Little Rock. She will represent the city in the Miss Arkansas pageant next month.

The 5-3, 108-pound lovely won a $500 wardrobe and $300 scholarship in the city contest here Saturday night.

Picnic Chicken Delight

Chicken that's cooked for eating out of hand wins the popular vote for the very best outdoor eating. Picnic Chicken Delight is a double winner, for it won a top prize in a recent National Chicken Cooking Contest. Too easy to prepare and quick to cook, this dish will please the cook and satisfy the hungry picnicer. As the old saying goes, some like it hot, some like it cold. This chicken can be cooked ahead and packed in a chilled hamper for enjoyment at a picnic site, or it can be cooked at home for delectable patio meals.

Cranberry jelly is a wonderful accompaniment to fried chicken at any season of the year. Add a hearty salad bowl of greens, tomato wedges and hard cooked eggs. Fry plenty of chicken and have enough cranberry jelly and salad so there are seconds all around, and you've got yourself some mighty fine eating for warm sunny days.

Picnic Chicken Delight

2 broiler-fryers, 2 1/2 to 3 lbs. cut up

1/2 teaspoon garlic or onion salt

1 cup cooking oil

3/2 teaspoons salt

1/2 cup water, optional

Measure and blend flour and seasonings in a bag or a can with a tight cover. Shake chicken, 2 to 3 pieces at a time, in flour mixture to coat evenly. Meanwhile, heat cooking oil moderately hot in fry pan. Add chicken, meaty pieces first, slipping less meaty pieces in between. Cook until golden brown, 35 to 40 minutes, turning as needed to cook and brown evenly. Reduce heat, add water, cover tightly and cook over low heat 10 to 15 minutes until thickest pieces are fork-tender. Drain on paper towel. Garnish as desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Many U.S. Engineers Work Abroad

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—It's rarely lumped in with foreign aid to developing countries. And it's an American export that is hard to fit into the statistics.

But U.S. firms with engineering and construction skills up for hire on a global scale are chalking up sizable earnings abroad. This, along with the exports to build and equip the plants, helps the United States in its struggle to balance its international payments.

Official statistics do show that U.S. engineering and building contractors drew net income of at least $120 million on foreign jobs in 1960. But government experts on world trade concede that actual earnings might run several times that much.

The statistics don't include military construction projects on which American firms work. And also, fees collected abroad on non military work often remain in the hands of foreign subsidiaries of U. S. engineers and builders.

Demand for services of these American firms still runs strong—in the already industrialized nations as well as in the more publicized underdeveloped ones.

The National Constructors Association, with 28 engineering and building contractors as members reports they are working on some 200 foreign jobs, ranging from small electric utility substations to multimillion-dollar industrial complexes requiring several years to complete. These projects, it says, employ 500 Americans overseas as well as 30,000 foreign workers.

Example: Stone & Webster Engineering Corp. of Boston says it often has staff engineers working in two-dozen lands in a single year. In 1960 its personnel rolled up 665,000 miles in foreign travel. It says its biggest customers by far are private foreign interests, rather than governments.

The Construction Industry International Committee, with some 60 members, estimates 17 leading U.S. contractors completed $2.5 billion in construction jobs abroad in the last five years. It says $1 billion worth of U.S. exports in the form of machinery, construction equipment and other supplies were generated by these projects.

The committee says that 22 largest American contractors now have 3,000 Americans on foreign jobs. Unestimated thousands of others are laboring here at home to supply these projects.

Could Write on a Gold Typewriter

Y MAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Foreman doesn't write on a solid-gold typewriter.

But he could if he chose to.

At 47 Carl, who once was a sideshow Barker, is reputed to be the highest paid screen writer in moviedom—and modestly declines to deny it.

Over a 22-year career his output has been relatively small for bourgeoning Hollywood.

"I've turned out fewer than 50 scripts," he remarked. "Some of the fellows out there have written 500."

But among his films have been such notables as "High Noon," "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Champion," "Home of the Brave," "The Key," and "The Mouse that Roared."

He recently wrote and produced "Guns of Navarone," which tells of a suicidal commando raid against a German gun base. The Greek government obligingly loaned him three thousand troops and 12 destroyers for this $5 million venture, filmed largely on the island of Rhodes in the Mediterranean.

Foreman's own life story chronicles the rise of the writer from low-paid scribbler to the role of lyecon in the industry. After years of odd jobs ranging from carnival press agent and sideshow Barker to laboratory technician, the Chicago-born author finally sold his first film script in 1939 for $100.

"I broke in the hard way," he recalled, "on what they called poverty row," a section in Sunset Boulevard that held the offices of producers of cheap quickies.

"They made films for $10,000 to $20,000. To them a $30,000 picture was an epic.

"A writer then was a barely necessary evil. He was a nuisance, hardly tolerated on the set. If they could just have figured how to make movies without a writer at all, life would have been beautiful for them.

"Once when I objected to a change they made in one of my scripts, and said so out loud, they decided on direct action—and included me out. They called over two policemen and had me thrown out of the studio."

Since those days, however, the writer has risen to the upper status class.

"The absolute minimum for a script today would be $3,500," said

Declares Barbara Burns Losing Sight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Barbara Burns, troubled daughter of the late Arkansas comedian, Bob Burns, is losing her sight, a friend says.

Miss Burns, 23, arrested numerous times on suspicion of narcotics violations, is in UCLA Medical Center. A hospital spokesman said yesterday she is being treated "for a condition which is interfering with her vision."

But a friend, Jack Strait, said: "She is going blind. All she can see is blurs."

Strait, who identified himself as the operator of a small recording firm, said Miss Burns has inflammation of the optic nerve.

He said she is penniless and "if we don't raise some money they'll have to remove her from the hospital."

Foreman: "And some writers have received from $175,000 to $200,000, plus a percentage of the picture."

U. S. Hopes for Foreign Visitors

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam hopes to entertain more foreign visitors this year than last. But the big drive to encourage reverse tourism, and thus garner needed dollars, has run into problems, chiefly money, distance, language.

Government agencies and private enterprises are trying to dent these barriers. And today they have some advice from an unsolicited source: an official of the Soviet travel agency Intourist, in New York to see about setting up direct Moscow-New York air service.

He says Russian visitors would increase if the United States would advertise there, would end visa red tape, and cut prices. Last year only 1,000 Soviet tourists visited the United States while about 15,000 American tourists went to the Soviet Union.

Washington officially hopes for an over-all influx of nearly 500,000 pleasure and business visitors from overseas, plus 400,000 from Latin America, and an estimated five million Canadians to spend more than 48 hours in the United States. Travel from South America is expected to top that from the United States for the first time. And Japanese visitors may come in volume because of eased currency restrictions.

To beat the cost problem, various economy packages are being featured, such as $99 excursion rate has tickets good for 99 days.

To tackle the difficulties from the great distances to be covered here are such package tours as on covering 20 leading cities. Prices range from $40 for a quick shopping tour of Miami to $613 for a transcontinental air and rail tour.

On the language front, great progress is reported in an American Express poll of various agencies and private firms.

Expanded interpreter services at ports of entry are being offered by airlines, steamship lines,

Visitors to Canada May Get Break

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans planning a Canadian vacation or wishing to buy goods there may be in for a break. But if the Canadian plan to force its dollar below the value of the American dollar goes through, Americans who want to sell goods there or who get dividends from investments in Canada may be on the losing side.

The turnabout in the relative rating of the two dollars is only part of the frequently changing and often confusing status of the Yankee dollar in world money markets.

It's little more than a year ago that many Americans were puzzled and annoyed to find they had to put up as much as $1.06 to buy what a Canadian dollar would.

That has changed. Now the dollar is at par with gold. U.S. securities look safer. And the Yankee dollar may soon buy more than the Canadian one.

The reason the Canadian dollar was once worth 6 cents more than the American is this: Although Canada was buying more goods from the United States than it was selling, Americans were investing so many dollars in Canada they were far offsetting this trade loss.

When Americans invested in Canada and when Canadians floated loans or sold securities here, the American dollars had to be turned into Canadian ones to go to work there. This excess of demand for Canadian dollars over the demand for American dollar caused the Canadian currency to go to a premium.

But the Canadian government wants to push up its exports and lower its imports. Many Canadians also frown on Americans owning so much of Canada's resources and industry. So Canada proposes to force its money to what it calls substantial discount—meaning Canadians will have to put up some extra cents to buy a Yankee dollar.

To do this the Canadian government will buy up U.S. dollars, making the demand for them greater than the demand for the Canadian variety.

The Canadian government, like the American, is planning to operate at a deficit for a time, hoping thereby to stimulate the economy. Deficit financing tends to lower the value of the currency in terms of other lands like West Germany, where the government is building up its reserves.

Both American and Canadian dollars could lose status, depending on the extent of the deficit and its relation to the total budgets and to the economy as a whole.

Bell Wants $7,320 Month for TV Line

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., told the Arkansas Public Service Commission Monday it would cost $258,000 to install equipment for a pay television experiment in Little Rock.

Bell said it would have to charge Midwest Video Corp., $7,320 a month—with Midwest posting some kind of bond for 10 years—for its services.

The bond is required, Bell General Manager Warren E. Bray, testified at a five-hour hearing, to insure the telephone company against loss if pay television is a failure.

Southwestern Bell filed a proposed rate schedule for pay TV services with the PSC Monday. A Bell spokesman said it was the first pay television tariff to be filed with a state agency anywhere in the nation.

Theater owners opposing Midwest's pay television plan contend the Arkansas commission has no jurisdiction in the case since courts have held that television is by its nature interstate commerce.

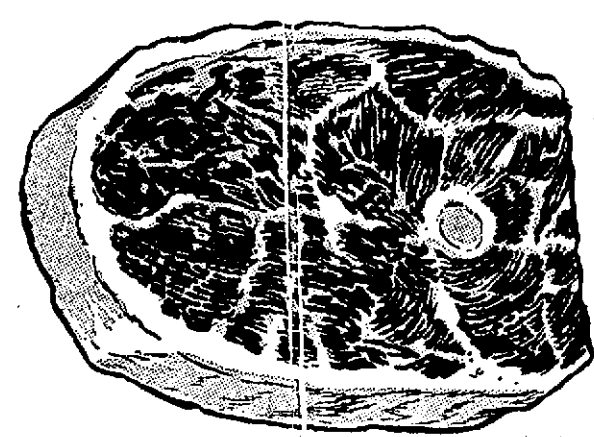

Can't Jail a TB Suspect

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office ruled Monday that Arkansas' new tuberculosis control law allows apprehension of a persons to determine if he has the disease, but it does not permit a health officer to place him in jail. The health officer can seek a court order to have the patient committed to a hospital.

Bearden Disposal Plant Approved

BEARDEN, Ark. (AP)—The Dallas office of the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department has notified Bearden officials of the approval of the community's $46,000 sewage disposal plant. Mayor W. H. Brooks said the approval means bids can be asked on the project. The new facility will replace one built 26 years ago.

Democrats Blast GOP Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee let a blast today at Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the new Republican national chairman.

It said Miller "ended up with his foot in his mouth three times in a row in his first week in office" and that there is speculation his chairmanship may be brief.

The committee, in its publication, "The Democrat," said Miller within 24 hours of taking over his new duties June 2 "announced that he favored a Rockefeller-Goldwater GOP ticket for 1964."

"Since the New York governor (Nelson A. Rockefeller) and the Arizona senator (Barry Goldwater) have taken almost diametrically opposed positions on almost every known question of public policy," the committee said, "allowing this idea proved to be too much for even the normally rugged digestion of the GOP elephant."

(Miller in response to questions on a recent radio program said the party might even have a Rockefeller-Goldwater ticket or vice versa in 1964. He did not say he "favored" such a ticket.)

"Not daunted by this initial goof," the Democratic publication said, "Chairman Miller promptly proceeded to violate the strong unwritten American convention against partisan sniping at the president of the United States when he is engaged on a delicate international mission."

"The GOP leader said he hoped that President Kennedy was not meeting Khrushchev to negotiate some under-the-table deal in order to increase his prestige."

"This low blow evoked a storm of criticism from all sides."

The third alleged "goof" mentioned by the committee was a Miller statement on television last Sunday. The committee quoted Miller as saying the Eisenhower administration had a complete plan for an invasion of Cuba by anti-Castro refugees to be backed up by U.S. air support, but that President Kennedy rescinded the air protection plan.

The committee then recalled a statement it said former Vice President Richard M. Nixon made in the last campaign criticizing a Kennedy suggestion for strengthening the forces in exile and in Cuba itself. Nixon was quoted as saying this was "recklessly dangerous" and would violate U.S. commitments not to intervene in internal affairs of other nations. The committee continued:

"Miller's statement that the GOP administration had a full plan for a U. S. sponsored invasion — which Nixon presumably had known about at the time he made this statement — in effect puts the finger on Nixon as having deliberately attempted to mislead the American people on a matter of vital national policy."

LET'S GO NATIVE

Next time, go "native" for your party theme. An Hawaiian party is easy to give and fun to go to. You'll want to do the decorations yourself. A tropical fruit centerpiece sets the luau mood and a colorful paper lei at each place setting gives your table an authentic island touch that all your guests will enjoy.

School Bill Has Uphill Struggle

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces begin an uphill struggle today to rescue President Kennedy's school bill from the sea of controversy that has all but swamped it in the House.

Democratic leaders in the House looked to the President to do some personal pushing on the $2.5-billion measure.

Kennedy and House Speaker Sam Rayburn were dealt a setback Tuesday when the Rules Committee refused to send the bill to the floor as Rayburn wanted.

Instead it voted 9 to 6 to delay any action until the House Education Committee sends along another bill—the National Defense Education Act — with loans for parochial schools included.

The success of the Rules Committee in blocking action illustrated, in capsule form, the potential forces allied against the administration bill. The measure calls for a three-year program of grants to the states for either public school construction or teachers' salaries, as the states desire.

The nine-man majority was composed of five Republicans, two Southern Democrats and two Northern Democrats—both Roman Catholics representing heavily Catholic districts.

Republicans in the House are nearly unanimously opposed to any school bill. The opposition of the conservative Southern Democrats is heightened by their concern that a federal education program would hasten integration in public schools. Many Catholic congressmen are under pressure from their constituents to withhold support from public school aid until they are assured parochial schools also will get some form of aid.

In addition, the bill faces heavy attack once it gets to the floor from members who oppose the provisions for teachers' salaries but favor the construction program, and those who object to the formula under which poorer states will receive a greater proportion of funds than richer states.

The United States ranks second only to the United Kingdom as the largest importer of agricultural products. One-sixth of the world's agricultural imports come to the U. S.

Thinks Women Are Treated Unfairly

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Charles R. Oldham, national chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, charged today 14 white women "Freedom Riders" are being held in a single cell at the Hinds County Jail in Jackson, Miss.

"These prisoners do not have beds, but sleep on the concrete floor," said Oldham, who visited the prisoners Saturday and Sunday. He said the cell is about 13 by 15 feet, including bath facilities.

"The Negro girls are in a similar situation except that they have been placed in two cells and do not have the same crowded conditions," Oldham said.

A number of the so-called Freedom Riders arrested at Jackson, Miss., in their efforts to break down segregation practices in that area were sponsored by CORE.

Most of the male Freedom Riders arrested at Jackson have been transferred to the hard-wire-enclosed maximum security section of the Mississippi Penitentiary at Parchman, Oldham said.

Three Girls Hurt

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Three teen-aged girls remain in a hospital here with injuries received in a traffic accident which took the life of Mrs. Tonetta Sharpe, 23, of Fort Smith Tuesday. Sharon Proctor, 13, suffered a back injury, 13-year-old Mary Willard received head injuries and 17-year-old Sue Franks has a broken collarbone. All are from Fort Smith.

Spa Gets Building

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The city of Hot Springs has formally taken over the old post office and federal building here for use as a health center. The $225,000 building was built in 1903 and declared surplus after the recent construction of a new federal building. Deed to the building was delivered to Mayor Dan Wolf Tuesday.

Pay TV Plan Taken Under Advisement

Arkansas Public Service Commission Tuesday took under advisement a plan for pay television in Little Rock after protesting theater operators testified that they might be forced out of business.

Midwest Video Corp. has asked the PSC to require Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to install necessary equipment for the experiment but Southwestern Bell wants a guarantee that its investment will be protected.

The theater group insists that pay television is not in the public interest and would eventually mean an end to motion pictures.

"People are just not going to come to our theaters to see something they have seen on TV," J.T. Hitt of Bentonville, owner of four theaters and president of the Independent Theater Owners of Arkansas, told the commission.

Another witness, Walter Reade Jr., of Middletown, N.J., told the PSC:

"If we have no motion pictures to put on our screen we can't stay in business."

Reade owns 35 theaters on the East Coast and also distributes movies and helps produce them.

Reade and Philip F. Harling of New York, vice president of a firm which operated 38 theaters, said if pay television becomes firmly established it would siphon off the talent now used in making movies and mean an eventual end to motion picture theaters.

Okay Bond Issue

DE WITT, Ark. (AP) — De Witt residents Tuesday approved bond issues to construct a 20-bed hospital and retire some city street bonds two years in advance of the due date. Vote on the $142,000 hospital program was 391 to 57. The proposal to retire the $42,000 in street bonds was 395 to 53.

The highest peaks in Arkansas are Mount Magazine in Logan county and Rich Mountain in Polk county.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Tied for Strength

Be he sailor or scout, man or wife, all appreciate a good tight knot. Scientists are no exception. In the field of food, they tie together knowledge from many fields of learning. They link knowledge of nutrients and human requirements for them to the available food supply. Result: Nutrition engineered to your needs, foods strengthened to supply nutrients apt to be short in most diets.

How did scientists engineer for food power? Through...

1. Fortification of salt with iodine to prevent goiter, of milk with vitamin D to prevent rickets
2. Enrichment of bread and cereal with iron and B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin—to prevent anemia, beriberi, pellagra.

Obtaining enough of these nutrients depends chiefly on eating foods that carry them. Thiamine, particularly, is difficult to get unless you eat enough enriched or whole grain bread and cereal each day. Four servings, your safe mooring against nutrient shortages, are recommended as a minimum by U.S. Department of Agriculture nutritionists. Economists of this staff, Faith Clark and Eloise Cofer, say enriched or whole grain bread and cereal return more than five times their cost in hard-to-get thiamine, more than three times their money value in iron and niacin. And, since these are foods you eat every day, several times a day, their calcium and protein contributions mount.

Within this group of foods are such popular selections as cereals, macaroni, rolls, and other bakery foods made from enriched or whole grain flour. Strengthening basic foods through enrichment, Dr. Frank Boudreau of the Milbank Memorial Fund calls a triumph of social engineering for health.

Big Names Stay at This Hotel

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At what hotel could you find Marilyn Monroe, Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher, President Sukarno of Indonesia, Shelley Berman, Judy Garland, Henry Ford II, John Huston and Bob Newhart?

The answer is the Beverly Hills Hotel. No hotel in the world can boast such a guest list at any one time.

I have spent a goodly portion of my life at the Beverly Hills, as has anyone who covers the Hollywood beat. Not only is it the favorite stopping place for famous visitors, it is also the prime spot for having lunch and cocktails, giving parties and making deals.

It has become a status symbol. If you're a success or trying to be one, you stay at the B.H.H., whether you can afford it or not.

It is perfectly located for conducting business here—midway between the far-flung studios, close to the wheelers and dealers of Beverly Hills. It is in the heart of the highest district, where the stars and tycoons live.

But these are intangibles. I asked Manager Stewart Hath-way, for a more concrete explanation.

"The hotel has a casual, informal air but with a certain formality," he said. "We stress friendliness without familiarity. Our employees call guests by their names—but not their first names."

The Beverly Hills keeps personal files on guests, listing their likes and dislikes. The symbol of the place goes back to the Spanish lobby is lighted in all seasons; the lobby is lighted in all seasons as a welcome to weary travelers.

The Beverly Hills is smallish by Hiltonian standards—312 rooms. But capacity is an admirable 90 per cent year-round; in summer and winter it's 80. You can pay $25 for a single $60 for a suite and up to $100 per day for a three-bedroom bungalow.

The bungalows are the super status symbol. That's where you'd find people like Liz and Eddie, M.M., the Shah of Iran, Queen Juliana of Holland, etc.

Easy Summer Buffet Sandwiches

Put these high and handsome Summer Buffet Sandwiches at the top of your list of ideal "help yourself foods." They're easy to prepare and nutritious—but most important, they make mighty good eating.

These 3-decker sandwiches are made with luncheon meat and two wonderful cheeses. For a sharp flavor we suggest a golden natural cheddar; for a smooth, mild taste, natural Swiss. To enhance the meat and cheese flavors, spread the bread with a rich velvety mayonnaise.

There's no doubt about it, these sandwiches are a cinch to boost your reputation as the "hostess with the mostess" right to the top of everyone's list.

Longshore Workers in Protest

By PIERCE LEHMBECK

NEW YORK (AP)—Growing discontent over a strike by seafaring unions led today to a New York port work stoppage by longshoremen and a threat by one of their top officials to ask President Kennedy for a strike-ending injunction.

Tony Anastasio, longshore union boss on the Brooklyn waterfront, said if other officials of his union didn't request such an injunction from Kennedy he would. Anastasio is a union vice president.

William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Association and Thomas Gleason, chief organizer, were not immediately available for comment.

However, the union already had ordered members to quit work today, apparently in an effort to force the striking maritime unions to clarify their demands in a situation that has led to great confusion.

The action caused a virtual paralysis in operations of the vast New York harbor, already hard hit as a result of the sweeping national strike.

Anastasio said: "We believe we cannot support the strike. Fifty per cent of our men are working and 50 per cent are out."

Up to their waists today, the ILA members had continued to load and unload foreign vessels not affected by the maritime strike.

Anastasio also complained that even among the striking seafarers many had remained aboard tied up ships "and get paid and we stay out and don't get paid."

ILA members were called upon to meet with the striking sea unions in a rally at Manhattan's Battery Park later today.

The Maritime Port Council of Greater New York then called for a work stoppage by its 27 unions so members could attend a rally after the ILA meeting.

ILA officials said they were confused by the inter-union bickering and lack of clear-cut issues in the six-day-old walkout involving 85,000 maritime workers and close to 1,000 ships.

Federal mediators say they have never faced such a confused and complicated strike.

The walkout of longshoremen who load and unload ships and handle baggage, hit the port at a crucial time. The nation's two largest passenger liners—the United States and the Constitution—arrive from Europe today.

Three foreign passenger liners were due to arrive and two—including the Queen Elizabeth—were scheduled to sail.

Thomas Gleason, general organizer of the ILA, said the dock workers are "in the middle" in the sea dispute.

"Some of the (striking) ship officers are sitting in their ships, eating well and getting paid, and we have about 6,000 longshoremen out of work," Gleason said.

Many longshoremen have refused to cross maritime picket lines.

Negotiations between unions and management are at a virtual standstill. A policy meeting of leading industry representatives was held Tuesday night at an undisclosed location.

The creeping paralysis of the maritime dispute has spread around the nation and has immobilized more than 100 liners, freighters and tankers. Numerous industrial concerns ashore also are stalled.

Car Milum Lost Was His Own

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The car Sen. Roy Milum of Harrison lost to thieves in Little Rock Friday was his own—not the state's.

The car bore an Arkansas Industrial Development Commission emblem, but William P. Rock, AIDC executive director, said Milum had taken it in trade on a new car shortly before it was stolen from a downtown parking spot.

Rock said Milum's bid on the new car was $300 less than his nearest competitor.

Milum, an automobile dealer, drove the new car to Little Rock. He intended to drive the trade-in back to Harrison.

Catch A Calypso Cooler To Quench Summer Thirst

Calypso music has an offset rhythm that Americans like. You'll like, too, this Calypso Cooler that blends two strikingly different flavors, strawberry and banana with milk, to create a summer thirst.

The strawberry, as a fruit, is not always in the market, but you can keep its refreshing flavor in season on your pantry shelf all year long with quick strawberry-flavored mix in convenient powdered form. Stir this strawberry-flavored mix into liquid, and it dissolves instantly. Fortified with vitamins and iron, it supplies good nutrition as well as novel flavor for hot-day cooling.

Strawberry Calypso Cooler is a smooth drink as thick as a milkshake and full of fruit flavor. Young people will enjoy it as a combination beverage and dessert with a sandwich or salad lunch, or as a mid-afternoon refresher. The milk gives it a sound foundation of nourishment and the combined fruit flavors give it a natural sweetness which makes dessert unnecessary when you serve it.

Strawberry Calypso Cooler

¾ cup quick strawberry-flavored mix

2 ripe bananas, mashed

Blend quick strawberry-flavored mix into *mashed bananas. Gradually add milk, stirring briskly until blended. Yield: 4 servings.

*To mash bananas, break peeled bananas into three or four pieces in bowl, and mash with fork, or electric blender, if preferred.

Czechs and U. S. Hurl Spy Charges

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was caught today in a cross-fire from the United States and Communist Czechoslovakia over U.S. spy charges against Czech diplomat Miroslav Naevalac.

The United States sent Hammarskjöld a note charging that Naevalac, handsome 39-year-old counselor at the Czech U.N. mission, is Prague's chief intelligence agent in America and that he paid an instructor at the U.S. Army Language School in Monterey, Calif., $1,700 for information.

The United States said it had pictures to prove it. The language instructor, a naturalized American citizen born in Czechoslovakia, confirmed the U.S. account.

The U.S. note declared anew that the Czech government should recall Naevalac at once and denied that the demand for his departure violated the agreement between the United States and the United Nations giving special rights to diplomats accredited to the United Nations.

Naevalac denied all the U.S. charges. His delegation indicated it would press Hammarskjöld to rule that U.S. action against the counselor violated both the U.N. charter and the U.S.-U.N. agreement.

The U.S. note said Naevalac was known to U.S. authorities as the "chief of Czechoslovak civilian intelligence operations in the United States and has a long background in Czechoslovak intelligence work."

It charged that Naevalac had six meetings with the Army language instructor, Karel Hlasny, between 1958 and 1961, offered an exit permit from Czechoslovakia for Hlasny's fiancée in exchange for intelligence information, and paid him various sums totaling $1,700.

The United States said Hlasny was cooperating with the U.S. government all the time and the information he passed was worthless. But Hlasny's fiancée got her exit permit in 1959 and they were married in California.

Naevalac said the U.S. charges were "all lies" and that he had never been in California. But U.S. State Department press officer Lincoln White displayed photographs of Naevalac and Hlasny he said were taken outside a San Francisco restaurant where they met.

Czechoslovakia's charge that the U.S. demands violated the U.N. headquarters agreement with the United States had aroused speculation that the Czechs would request that the case be referred to an arbitration tribunal. Clayton Fritchey, a spokesman for the U.S. delegation said the arbitration proceedings can take place only when there is disagreement between the United States and the secretary-general, and "we know of no such issue."

Fritchey said he had been assured last week by the Czechoslovak delegation that Naevalac would be leaving soon. This was denied by Zdenek Cernik, acting Czechoslovak delegation head. He said he had informed the United States that his government rejected the charges against Naevalac, and that he was awaiting further instructions from Prague.

Berlin's History of Crisis

POST-WAR control of Berlin by United States, Britain, France and Russia ended in '48 when Soviets withdrew from four-power administration. City was then divided into eastern and western sectors.

MAJOR BLOCKADE of West Berlin by Soviets was in '48-'49. U.S.-British airlift kept beleaguered city going with over 1.5 million tons of supplies.

FAULTS met East Berlin uprising of anti-Communist workers in '53, squelched by Soviet troops.

HEADLINE set in '58 by Soviets called for unification of Germany under Red terms within six months. Khrushchev later said this was no ultimatum, called for negotiations.

COLLAPSE of summit engineered over U-2 incident in 1960 again put heat on Berlin. Khrushchev threatened to sign separate peace with East Germany.

BERLIN TODAY again faces potential crisis. United States has renewed pledge to resist Soviet encroachment in Berlin.

NATO hears Secretary of State Rusk say Soviets may sign peace treaty with East Germany this summer.

U.S., Japan Agree on Trade Plan

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Japan have agreed to establish a joint economic committee at Cabinet level, U.S. officials disclosed today.

The agreement appeared to be a major outgrowth of talks between Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and President Kennedy which entered their second day today.

The high level committee would function in much the same manner as the present U.S.-Canada Trade Committee which meets annually on trade problems.

American officials considered the proposed committee a symbol of the trade partnership between the United States and Japan and an answer to critics who contend that military security forms the only real tie between the two nations.

The Canadian-American group brings together the top financial and trade authorities of both governments to consider the most acute problems between the two countries.

The Japanese-American committee would perform a similar role.

Disarms Talks Already in Big Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP)— Preliminary U.S. Soviet disarmament talks headed into their third day amid signs of a hassle even before the two sides get to a formal conference.

John McCloy, the U.S. disarmament chief, and Valerian Zorin, representing the Soviets, arranged a mid-morning resumption of the talks which have shown no sign of progress since they began Monday.

Meanwhile, the top U.S. delegate at the stalled Geneva nuclear test ban talks, Arthur H. Dean, was slated to return to Washington late today for consultations with President Kennedy and others.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said it was an "open question" whether Dean would return to the faltering Geneva party which has been under way since November 1958. White said the United States will continue to seek an effective test ban agreement there.

During Tuesday's 2½-hour McCloy-Zorin meeting, Zorin was reported to have given a lengthy restatement of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's disarmament views. Both McCloy and Zorin declined comment after the closed session.

McCloy is trying to get agreement on a site for general disarmament discussions and on a list of participating countries. Washington and Moscow have agreed the conference should begin around July 31.

But the Soviets want to merge the nuclear test talks with the general disarmament discussions, a move Kennedy opposes. They also want 15 nations at the conference table—five Communist, five Western and five neutral.

Kennedy advisers see the Soviets' 15-nation plan as a form of Khrushchev's troika system—and they fear agreeing to this in the arms talks would promote its chances at the United Nations and in international organizations where Khrushchev wants it adopted.

Kennedy already has denounced Khrushchev's demand for troika, or a three-headed, control system to police any ban on atomic testing. Kennedy says it amounts to a Soviet veto over any effective enforcement action.

It was learned that Khrushchev told Kennedy at their Vienna meeting the Soviet Union was willing a year ago to accept a single-executive control system on the A-ban machinery.

But after seeing how U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld handled the Congo crisis, Khrushchev said, the Soviet Union now feels no man can be trusted to be truly neutral and the Soviet Union cannot let him control matters of Soviet national interest and security.

Kennedy was said to have told Khrushchev, among other things, that the U.S. Senate would never accept a treaty with the troika in it. The proposed test ban agreement would be in treaty form.

Summer Is Soup And Sandwich Time

Summer... soups... sandwiches... all have much in common. Besides, beginning with the letter S, they're all favorites.

Surveys show that families serve sandwiches on an average of once a day. Soup and sandwiches are summer meal-mates hot or cold, plain or fancy. Market shelves burst forth with many wonderful foods, to fill summer soup and sandwich needs. Every tray can boast a different combination of soups, sandwich fillings, breads or rolls. There's nothing like your own "pantry-market" to help you plan inviting summer fare, different daily. Choose from 33 kinds of canned or frozen soups; numerous canned or packaged sandwich spreads or meats; endless lists of breads and rolls.

Menu planning for brunch, lunch or supper, summertime or anytime, is balanced budget-wise and nutrition-wise with soups and sandwiches.

Try this "cool" suggestion today:

Chilled Chicken And Shrimp Bowl

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 soup can milk
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
Dash garlic powder
Dash rubbed savory
Garnish with lemon rind

Tomato Cucumber Rounds

8 slices wheat germ bread
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons chopped watercress
Dash Tabasco
8 thin slices tomato
8 thin slices cucumber
Watercress

With a 3-inch round cookie cutter, cut bread into circles. Mix cream cheese, chopped watercress, and Tabasco; spread on bread. Top with tomato slice, then cucumber slice. Garnish with watercress. Makes 8 open-face sandwiches.

or I'll knock his brains out," said Mr. Dunderhead, and he meant it. He rigged an outline of a course that was calculated to make Jack a dull boy.

Before Jack could get his spending money, Jack had to learn by rote long passages from the classics. Before Jack could have the family car, he had to translate passages from the original Latin.

Jack wanted spending money and use of the family car and knowing that his father was a determined old square he did as his was ordered. Besides, with all his so-called faults, Jack had a certain tolerance and admiration for dear old Dad, who occasionally was even right.

And Jack really wasn't frivolous. He didn't mind reading the classics the first time and there was a certain challenge to Latin that he didn't mind once he set his heart on translating it. But when he had to learn classics by heart and translate longer passages each day, he rebelled. The more he learned, he said, the more upset he became because modern problems bore no relation to those of Henry VIII or John Bunyan.

"Honest, Dad, is it necessary to learn all this tripe in order to be well-educated?"

"Indeed it is," said Mr. Dunderhead firmly. "And it isn't tripe."

"But wouldn't it be better if I familiarized with a great many classics, instead of memorizing only a few?" Jack asked. "I could read an extra book in the time it takes to learn some of this stuff. And besides, if I even want to know what John Milton or Charles Dickens said, I can always find their works in the library."

Mr. Dunderhead signed patiently. He didn't intend to be a hard father, but he wanted his son to be a brain.

"Jack, my boy," he said, "we put too much faith in books and records. In order to have thoughts at one's fingertips, we should memorize, memorize, memorize."

Jack nodded slowly. "Yes, I suppose you're right," he said. "I was just translating a passage from Julius Caesar's commentaries. He told how the Druids, whom he admired, refused to trust their doctrines to writing. They committed their principles to memory. As a result, they became fathers of a great civilization."

"Not as great as Rome, my boy," said Mr. Dunderhead.

"No, but they were the ancestors of the civilizations of Germany, France, England and other countries of Europe. Caesar said: 'Reliance upon documents tends
